

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ann Arbor's second Pagan Pride Day will be held on Saturday, September 23rd, 2017 at the Community Park of Washtenaw Community College, from 11 AM to 6 PM. People of all ages and spiritual backgrounds are welcome. The event will feature a Druidic ritual by Rev. Melissa Hill, plus workshops on meditation, polytheism, the Tarot, and other topics, along with information booths, vendors, and other activities from members of our local Pagan community. Entry to the event is free, but we request the donation of a canned food item or dry good for our designated charity, Food Gatherers.

The event is sponsored by Ann Arbor Pagan Pride, the local branch of the Pagan Pride Project, a non-profit organization dedicated to the elimination of prejudice and religious discrimination through education, activism, charity and community.

Washtenaw Community College is at 4800 E. Huron River Drive in Ann Arbor. The Community Park is located between the Business Education Building and the Gunder Myran Building.

Ann Arbor Pagan Pride
Rev. Rob Henderson, Event Coordinator
734-277-1897
A2PaganPride@gmail.com
www.annarborpaganpride.org